

What Makes Great Boudoir

Sensual and sexy is how people think of the boudoir style of photography. Others refer to it as glamour photography, where the photographer's goal is to make you look better than your best. It is not about having the perfect body, the most beautiful face, or being tall, thin and gorgeous. What a boudoir photographer does is brings out the glamour that is in every woman.

Boudoir photography is about glamour and fantasy. It's about bringing out that special beauty a woman usually reserves for her lover in a series of photographs. The photographer captures what her lover has always seen in their heart.

Privacy is very important to our boudoir clients, which is why we take care to keep your images controlled. They are never shown or placed on our web site without your written permission.

Daring or conservative, sexy and wild or shy and flirtatious, it's up to you. The sessions are always shot at your comfort level. After all, not what you show, but what you don't show that makes the picture sexy.

Retouching is included in all our packages to enhance the photographs and make sure you look amazing.

Packages range from $200 to $2800, something to fit every lifestyle. Packages are described over the next few pages.
