

Headshots

A casting agent has to look at hundreds of headshots for every production they cast. Your headshot has three to five seconds to make an impression. A great headshot can make the difference between a call and the round file.

Our headshots are shot at our studio or on location to create the perfect look to get you noticed. You receive two versions of your headshot to give you the options. Both images will be delivered both digitally and printed fully retouched. Packages start at $175. Hair and make-up is available for $200.

We work digitally and perform several reviews during the shoot to make sure we are capturing the looks that will get you noticed. And most importantly, represent how you look currently. Nothing is worse than showing up to a casting and not looking like your headshot.
